

Rockford Region Manufacturing Day 10.1.15

The manufacturers of the Rockford Region are invited to open their doors to area students on Thursday, October 1, 2015. Volunteering your company as one of the stops on this special day of facility tours is a great way to introduce your business to the next generation of workers, and to demonstrate the skills needed in your workforce. This is an excellent opportunity to help develop the workforce pipeline that you will need in the future.

Manufacturing Day creates awareness and improves public perception of manufacturing careers, as well as the value of manufacturing to the North American economy. This is the program's fourth year in the Rockford Region.

Local manufacturing leaders are teaming up with the Rockford Chamber of Commerce, the Rockford Area Economic Development Council, IMEC, and Rock Valley College – in collaboration with CEANCI and area school districts to organize this event.

The national Manufacturing Day is on October 2. Because of scheduling complexities, the local Manufacturing Day with the school districts is on October 1. For questions or to register your company for a student Manufacturing Day tour, contact:

Vee Jevremovic
Rockford Chamber of Commerce
815.987.8100
Vjevremovic@rockfordchamber.com

Produced in conjunction with the national Manufacturing Day event.

www.mfgday.com

